The annual Smithton Town and Country Fair began Thursday evening with most of the town showing up for the special program at the high school ball diamond. At top, the South Abell 4-H Club performs their "Hats off to America" sketch with giant hats while Smithton's younger crowd watches from a wagon of

Ford: delegates might choose VP

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford held open the possibility today that if he wins the Republican presidential nomination he might let delegates at next month's GOP National Convention choose his running mate.

Ford, still voicing confidence he would win the Republican nomination, said anew that challenger Ronald Reagan was not excluded from his own list of potential ice-presidential candidates. He also said Reagan was qualified to be president.

Perched on the edge of his desk in the Oval Office, Ford held a half-hour impromptu news conference with about two dozen reporters who had turned out in the expectation of getting a regular briefing by White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

At the outset, Ford said his projections "clearly indicate" he will win a first ballot victory over Reagan at the GOP convention in Kansas City.

Responding to a question, he also said anew that he is not excluding Reagan or anyone else from consideration for the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket but added:

"I hope that individuals meanwhile won't rule themselves out."

Reagan has said he does not want the vice-presidential nomination.

When a questioner asked if Ford considered Reagan qualified for the presidency, the President noted that Reagan was not excluded from his list of potential running mates. When the reporter asked if that meant the former California governor was qualified, Ford replied: "That's a fair conclusion."

Then, after pausing for dramatic effect, Ford provoked laughter by adding, "If he is the nominee."

In the past, Ford has included Reagan among those he said were qualified to be his running mate, but this marked the first time Ford described Reagan as qualified for the presidency.

Asked about party factionalism spurred by the contest with Reagan, Ford said, "I think we can leave Kansas City with a win and a unified party."

As for the autumn campaign, expected to be against Democrat Jimmy Carter, Ford expressed the view that "we have a good opportunity to win." Ford said if he is the nominee he expects to draw support from all sections of the nation.

"We don't have any regional strategy," he said.

Asked if the election year was affecting foreign policy, Ford said of the search for a Strategic Arms Limitation Agreement with the Soviet Union:

"I intend to push for it. We are working on it."

He declared that "if we can get a good agreement, I will sign it regardless of political consequences."

Ford said he knew of no other major foreign policy areas that were susceptible to election-year influences.

In response to a question, Ford also offered his first personal reaction to last week's Supreme Court decision. The court upheld, with some exceptions, state laws providing for the death penalty.

"I support the direction in which the Supreme Court is going," Ford said. He reiterated his support for proposed legislation providing the death penalty for certain federal crimes such as espionage and treason.

Bond denies allegation that senator was bribed

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — A Republican member of the Missouri Senate has accused GOP Gov. Christopher S. Bond's administration of offering him a bribe a year ago, but Bond has flatly denied the charge.

The governor on Thursday called the allegations of Sen. James Noland of Osage Beach "ridiculous," suggesting they might involve problems Noland is facing in his re-election campaign.

Noland, who is facing stiff primary opposition in his bid for a third term, charged earlier this week that members of the Bond administration "offered me what I considered to be a bribe to vote for the Equal Rights Amendment."

He claimed a Bond aide offered to gain his wife, who had previously served as a magistrate judge in Camden County, a job as a workmen's compensation hearing officer. Bond said no such job was available in mid-Missouri as the Noland wanted.

"I don't know what Sen. Noland's campaign problems are, but the charge is ridiculous," the governor said in response to newsmen's questions.

Bond said he had checked into the allegations "and there's no truth to it. I don't know what point he is trying to prove."

Noland said that the alleged bribe offer made him so angry that he tried to resign from the Senate just after the 1975 session, during which it was allegedly offered. But he remained in the post after it was determined he would be legally unable to accept a job with the state Department of Higher Education.

Noland said he finally made his charges a year later because his primary opponent, state Rep. James Russell of Lebanon, has threatened to make his unsuccessful attempt to resign a campaign issue.

Curtis says King qualified to help clean House

By RON JENNINGS
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

In town Thursday to endorse Independence Mayor Richard King for the Republican Fourth District congressional nomination, former U.S. Rep. Thomas Curtis, Clayton, Mo., told a small group of GOP candidates and supporters that congressional, rather than executive, reform should be the primary theme of this fall's election campaigns.

King, one of two Republicans seeking the congressional nomination, is qualified to serve as a reformer in the House of Representatives, Curtis said,

"because in contrast to his Democratic and Republican opponents, (he) has been on the receiving end of laws, rules and regulations from Washington during his tenure as mayor of Independence."

Curtis recently resigned as head of the Federal Election Commission and, a Ronald Reagan supporter, will lead the Missouri delegation to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City next month.

"This year," Curtis said, "the Republicans are the reform party, both in the state and in this nation as a whole. It is up to us to help dismantle federal bureaucracy, and believe me it needs just that."

Known throughout his 18 years in Congress as a fiscal conservative, Curtis Thursday added, "There's no excuse for this nation of ours to be running a bankrupt operation in Washington, D.C."

Regarding recent sex scandal disclosures among various congressmen, Curtis noted that in his unsuccessful 1974 campaign against Sen. Thomas Eagleton, "I didn't avoid Watergate, but, instead, I warned it was only the tip of the iceberg. I was heart-sick and ashamed, but I told the people it had been building up for a long time. Now, the real iceberg is beginning to show up."

Despite these incidents, Curtis said, "90 per cent of the congressmen are decent and honorable men." But, he added, "my major criticism is that they are not speaking out against these incidents enough. I mean really speaking out and taking some good old-fashioned, hard-nosed action to prevent them from happening again."

King also addressed the audience and outlined five promises he has made to Fourth District voters. He said he has pledged to:

—Return any refunds from congress-

Downtown access not adequate, report says

By OWEN HARDY
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The Sedalia street system "is deficient in providing direct, convenient and easy access" to major traffic-producing areas within the city, a recent Show-Me Regional Planning Commission report says.

Show-Me planner-in-charge Ken Velharticky, who addressed members of the Sedalia Planning and Zoning Commission and interested citizens Thursday night in the Municipal Building, said the traffic problem is particularly evident in Sedalia's central business district. Poor access to this area has "encouraged the relocation of commercial business from the 'downtown' to the two major traffic carriers resulting in strip commercial development along U.S. 50 west and U.S. 65 south."

The commission approved the development of the overall city plan last August at a cost of $18,033. This cost was met with $8,000 in federal funds administered through the state, $2,000 in state funds channeled through the regional planning commission, $2,000 in city funds and $6,000 from the federal Community Development Act.

The 20-page "major street plan" is one of six parts of a Sedalia city plan being prepared by the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission. Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman Ray Hendricks also said Thursday night that the city would sponsor a "City Planning Week" Sept. 13-17, in which the commission would solicit citizen input concerning the various parts of the plan. These parts include economics, population, land use, housing, major streets and the overall development plan.

Velharticky said he considered the most important part of the 20-year street plan to be the construction of what he termed a "downtown boulevard" to solve the main business district's access problem, especially concerning access from the southern part of the city.

The boulevard would be an "arterial" street, whose function, Velharticky said, was "to quickly move large volumes of traffic to and from major traffic generators."

The 60-foot-wide arterial street would be constructed by connecting several existing streets, he said. The road would begin north of the city at Highway 65 and Ohio, which would be "tied into Lamine Avenue" north of the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks. Crossing Broadway, the boulevard would continue south on Lamine to the Katy Railroad tracks, following them on the north right-of-way to Grand, where it would cross the tracks and tie into Clinton Road. It would then proceed along Clinton Road southwest to Highway 65 and 32nd Street.

Velharticky pointed out that such a street would provide direct access to Smith-Cotton High School and close access to Bothwell Hospital. It would also reduce local traffic volume on Highways 65 and 50 and could be implemented in stages as money becomes available.

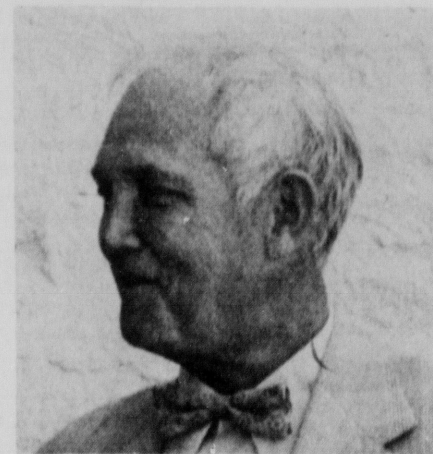

Planning and Zoning Commission member Dorothy Dunn asked if such a street would seriously hamper businesses already established along the two highways. Velharticky said that the "boulevard" would simply improve access to the central business district and should have no adverse effects on other business areas.

Velharticky also pointed out that the reduction of congestion on the two highways would reduce traffic accidents. "The State Highway Department study in 1972 shows that 43.7 per cent of the traffic accidents in Sedalia occurred at two U.S. 65 intersections: U.S. 65 and U.S. 50 (Broadway), and U.S. 65 and Route Y (Sixteenth Street)," his report says.

Another part of the street plan called for installing a major arterial street, called "Gould" in the report, which

Pat Nixon partially paralyzed

Thomas Curtis

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Doctors kept an overnight vigil on former first lady Pat Nixon, partially paralyzed on her left side from a stroke and in "serious but stable condition."

Mrs. Nixon was reported resting comfortably after visits with her two daughters Thursday night, but neurologist Dr. John Mosier said she is far from being out of danger.

"If the stroke doesn't get any worse, she's not going to die. If it gets worse, well, people do die from strokes," Mosier said at a news briefing called after the 64-year-old wife of former President Richard M. Nixon was admitted to Memorial Hospital Medical Center.

The stroke caused "moderate paralysis" of Mrs. Nixon's left leg, arm and left side of her face, which in turn caused a "slight slurring" of speech, Mosier said.

"I think she will walk," he said, but added, "She may not walk normally." Pressures in her life "certainly could have been a contributing factor" toward her illness, Mosier added.

Doctors said Mrs. Nixon had apparently suffered a right cerebral infarct, or a blood clot on the right side of the brain. A stroke can be caused by a clot or hemorrhage and can cause paralysis and speech slurring, or in severe cases, death.

Secret Service agents called an ambulance for Mrs. Nixon, and she was accompanied during the 30-mile trip from the former Western White House by her husband and younger daughter, Julie Nixon Eisenhower.

Nixon slipped out of the hospital only an hour after her arrival and apparently returned to San Clemente.

The couple's other daughter, Tricia Cox, flew in from New York and she and Mrs. Eisenhower visited with their mother until about 9:15 p.m. before joining their father at San Clemente.

President Ford and his Republican challenger, Ronald Reagan, called Nixon at the hospital.

"It could be serious," a White House spokesman quoted Nixon as telling the President.

Tax hearings set to begin next Monday

The Pettis County Board of Equalization will hold its annual hearings next week to hear complaints from county property taxpayers.

The board will meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each day next week in the County Court chambers in the courthouse.

County officials are expecting an increase in the number of complaints this year, due to the recent county-wide reappraisal. Complaints or reduction requests on over 60 separate tracts of land were ruled upon by the board last year.

In mid-April, over 22,000 notices were mailed by County Assessor Bill McCune's office to inform property owners of the reappraised value of their properties.

Persons wishing to address the board must bring their last property tax receipt and the notice mailed in April, McCune said.

The board, which meets only once a year, is composed of the three County Court judges, the county assessor, county auditor, county surveyor and Sedalia's mayor.

County Court Presiding Judge John Bluhm said Friday morning that all properties brought to the attention of the board will be inspected by the board before a final decision on the in-

Convention strategy

The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Cobb, right, head of the United Church Commission for Racial Justice, sits with Victor Goode, associate director of the National Conference of Black Lawyers, recently. They were discussing plans for teams of clergymen and lawyers to be deployed at the Democratic National Convention in New York to monitor street demonstrations and try to stave off clashes with police.

Ecumenical team will assist at convention

NEW YORK (AP) — A brigade of clergymen and lawyers is being deployed at the scene of the Democratic National Convention to monitor street demonstrations and try to stave off clashes with police.

"We hope to provide a cooling effect on both sides," says Irv Joyner, a specialist on criminal justice of the United Church of Christ and in charge of an ecumenical team organized for the job.

Starting Saturday and continuing around-the-clock until next Thursday midnight, the clergy and legal inspectors will be on hand to advise demonstrators both on rights and restrictions and to record activities.

Their gear will include cameras, tape-recorders and note pads. Joyner said his group wants to "forestall the type of abuses" that have occurred at past conventions of the Democratic and Republican parties.

Already the monitoring organization has received advance word from a score of groups ranging from students and women to "gays" and Vietnam veterans, planning for demonstrations through the week, beginning this weekend.

Agreement has been worked out with police for monitors to be stationed with police officers overseeing each of the "corridors" mapped out for surveillance around Madison Square Garden.

"We'll be privy to any reports coming in," Joyner. "We'll be physically present at all demonstrations and rallies."

He says prior upheavals have had a "chilling effect on demonstrators organizing to address their grievances" this time, and "we intend to minimize that effect."

About 200 churchmen and lawyers are being assigned to shifts and stations in the operation, centered in a midtown Manhattan rail and subway juncture through which agreements have been reached on various steps to avoid conflicts.

Newspapers rated above television

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey by the United Church of Christ finds that lay members and clergy rely more on newspapers for their information and opinions than on other news media.

Although some previous surveys have indicated a major reliance for news on television, the United Church study found that twice as many laity depended on newspapers as on television.

Fifty-three per cent put newspapers in first position, while 23 per cent named television first and the rest cited various other sources.

nearly a million people move daily, even in normal conditions.

"We recognize the police have a massive job on their hands, and I think we've worked out the best possible arrangements for the maximum rights for protest or voicing political opinion," Joyner says.

In preliminary discussion with police, he says,

religion

The volunteer operation was set up jointly by the United Church Commission for Racial Justice, the National Conference of Black Lawyers and the American Civil Liberties Union, with the cooperation of numerous religious bodies.

The Rev. Dr. Charles E. Cobb, head of the church commission, says the monitors will "record and photograph any incidents between demonstrators and police. We hope the presence of the teams will encourage restraint."

Bible prayer seminar to be held here

The Seventh Day Adventist Church, 2107 East 12th, is offering a seminar on the ABCs of Bible prayer and family communications Friday through July 18 at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

Pastor Glen Coon, author, lecturer, Christian counselor, and founder and director of the A B C Prayer Crusade International, will share 10 45-minute sermons on communicating with God through prayer.

There will also be 30-minute presentations with Pastor Coon and Crusade team members, with emphasis on harmonious family living.

Steve Marshall, former actor and atheist, will relate his conversion to Christ in a special two-hour mini-seminar.

Archbishop blasts ruling on abortions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court decision holding that husbands can't prevent a wife from having an abortion and that some girls under legal age are not required to have parental consent to do so constitutes a "serious blow at parents and families," says the president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati says the decision "makes abortion more constitutionally significant than the right of parents to rear their children."

"One certain effect will be to remove an important, intimate aspect of decision-making from the family and lodge it with third parties totally unrelated to the family."

Merger vote set

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A joint committee on Presbyterian Union has set 1978 as the year for a vote that could lead to merger of the United Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. (Southern), the nation's two largest Presbyterian bodies.

Ecumenical work camp explained

An ecumenical work camp to expose youths to different cultures and life styles was explained to Kiwanians Thursday at their luncheon meeting at the Bothwell Hotel.

The Rev. Marvin Albright, pastor of Immanuel United Church of Christ, showed slides of a recent trip to South Dakota taken by youths from his church and Sacred Heart Catholic Church. The group conducted a work camp at a Sioux Indian settlement.

Mr. Albright said the work camps provide a "creative outlet" for youths, and also promote better interdenominational and inter-faith relationships. He told of other such trips taken by the local group in which assistance was provided to blacks and other Indians in various parts of the country.

President Jim Rice reported briefly on his recent trip to San Diego, Calif., to attend the Kiwanis International convention.

Guests were Brig. Al Friend and C. Wesley Laws of the St. Louis office of the Salvation Army, with Capt. Robert Quinn.

Five men arrested in church dispute fined $200 apiece

NEVADA, Mo. (AP) — Five men charged after a disturbance last month at a rural church near Schell City, Mo., were found guilty Thursday of trespassing and fined $200 each by Vernon County Circuit Court Judge H. A. Kelso.

Each was sentenced to 90 days in jail but the sentences were suspended.

Six other men charged in connection with the incident asked for jury trials and their trial dates were to be scheduled today.

Kelso also will set trial dates today for two of the men charged with assaulting a police officer in the incident.

All the men charged after a scuffle June 2 at the Church of Christ at Zion's Retreat near Schell City. Some of them are members of another congregation, the Church of Our Christian Heritage, which broke away from the Church of Christ three years ago. Since then the two groups have been rivals.

Found guilty this week were Bruce Smith, 29, of Walker, Mo.; Dean Gayman, 30, and his brother, Dale Gayman, 34, both of Schell City; Duane Middleton, 39, Nevada, Mo., and Dale C. Gorden, 33, of Saginaw, Mo.

Another man charged with trespassing, Buddy Tucker, 31, of Dandridge, Tenn., did not show up for his trial and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

Reservists to hold training exercise

KNOB NOSTER — Air Force reservists of the 442 Tactical Airlift Wing (TAW), of Richards-Gebaur Air Force Base, will deploy to Whiteman Air Force Base here Saturday and Sunday in a training exercise called "Operation Blue Banner."

Ten C-130E aircraft, 65 crew members and about 50 support personnel will be involved in the exercise. Col. Paul Krey, 442 TAW deputy commander and leader of the mission, said the exercise will be held to add realism and enable participants to see the unit's operational readiness.

The exercise will involve simulated assault landings, 10-ship formation air-drops of training material and other operations. A total of 44 missions with 88 landings and takeoffs will be made.

—Refrain from engaging in outside business while in Congress.

—Work toward abolishing the automatic cost-of-living income increase provision approved by Congress which, he said, "makes them (Congressmen) immune to the effects of inflation."

—Not travel abroad at the taxpayer's expense.

—Establish a mobile office to visit cities in his district at least once a month. King also focused briefly on the need for congressional change, stating, "We seem to sometimes overlook the fact that Congress is the source of most of the problems in our country, either directly or indirectly."

Appearing briefly at the meeting was Al Kemp, Jefferson City, a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer. Kemp formerly served as executive director of the Missouri Election Commission.

Ken Romines, the only Republican candidate for pettis county prosecuting attorney, introduced Curtis, King and Kemp.

Carter finds VP selection more difficult than thought

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — After back-to-back meetings with Sens. Walter Mondale and John Glenn, Jimmy Carter says he is having a more difficult time choosing a vice presidential running mate than he expected.

Mondale, of Minnesota, flew to Carter's hometown in a private plane Thursday morning to meet with him as a vice presidential possibility. And Glenn, from Ohio, followed several hours later.

The former Georgia governor said initially he would interview at least five vice presidential possibilities. He later lengthened that list to six or seven. He talked with Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine on Monday.

Carter said Thursday he plans to meet with Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington in New York on Saturday, two days before the start of the Democratic National Convention.

He also has said he probably will interview Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey. Although they now are considered dark horses, two other senators who are expected to be interviewed by Carter during the convention are Frank Church of Idaho and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

Standing with Glenn, the former astronaut, on the lawn of Carter's home, the man who almost certainly will be nominated for the presidency next week insisted that "I honestly have no preference at this point" for a vice presidential nominee.

"I'm not going to rush myself," Carter said. "I'm deliberately going to wait until quite late."

After the meetings, Carter gave his visitors a taste of small-town Georgia life, first taking Mondale on a quick tour of downtown Plains and later escorting Glenn to his peanut fields, where he pulled a peanut plant and delivered a lengthy lecture on how it grew.

Carter refused to compare for the benefit of reporters his recent senatorial visitors, saying, "They all are superb leaders. All three are highly regarded not only by their colleagues...but by leaders in other parts of this country."

He added that he felt compatible with all three, both personally and on the issues.

Carter was asked whether Mondale, who decided last year not to run for president because he felt the stress of campaigning was too rigorous, could undergo the pressures of running for the vice presidency.

"Yes, we went into that, and there's no doubt in my mind that he would be willing," Carter replied.

Mondale strongly indicated he would accept the vice presidential nomination, answering "yes" to a question about whether he would be willing to give up his career in the Senate.

Glenn, however, refused to say whether he would accept the bid.

"The bid has not been offered, and I think it would be presumptuous of me to say yes or no to that," said Glenn, who was elected to the Senate in 1974.

Traffic

would extend southeast from the present end of East Third Street. Gould would begin at South New York and extend to the Missouri-Pacific underpass on Highway 50 near the Sedalia Municipal Airport.

Other arterial streets include 16th, which would require widening, Thompson Boulevard, which would be extended north of Broadway to Main "with plans for future extension to the north and east" to U.S. 65, Ingram, and New York.

The report breaks down Sedalia's streets into four major categories: local or residential; collector, which "collect traffic from local streets and carry it to major traffic ways;" arterial and highways.

Collector streets include Grand, Third, State Fair Blvd., Boonville and Cooper Streets, which would be joined, and Osage.

Velharticky made no estimates on how much the completed plan would cost. In the report, however, he recommended the financing of street improvements based on "need and benefits derived." Hence, construction and maintenance of arterial streets would be paid for by the entire community while financing of collector streets "should be based on a relationship of the area's ability to pay, with the balance to come from the total community." Local streets would "be developed, maintained and financed by the individual property owners."

Mayor Carl Franklin, however, said that the city could not possibly finance the complete project and that Sedalia would have to "take advantage of every grant, matching fund... and anything else that comes along."

Velharticky's plan dismissed the idea of using public transportation in Sedalia, saying the city's urban sprawl and lack of concentrated development made the option "not feasible."

He did recommend providing for alternative forms of transportation, however. Noting that Sedalia's sidewalk system was largely built before 1920, he said a percentage of the funds appropriated for street maintenance and improvement be used to maintain sidewalks.

He also recommended a "bike way plan," which calls for the designation of bicycle lanes along collector streets and the construction of separate bicycle ways along arterial streets. In his report, he noted that out of Sedalia's 22,847 population, one third of that number, or 7,497 persons, "are pedestrians or non-drivers (under 16 or over 75)."

Couple sues three companies for $110,000

A Benton County couple filed suit in Circuit Court Thursday asking a total of $110,000 damages from three Springfield corporations, alleging malicious harassment in the collection of debts that had already been paid by the couple.

Arthur Bird and Diana Bird filed the action against Ferrell-Duncan, Inc., PAS Inc., and the Collection Bureau of Springfield. The Birds claim their credit and reputations were damaged in the amount of $5,000 each, and that each incurred punitive damages of $50,000.

On Nov. 19, 1975, the Collection Bureau instituted action in Magistrate Court on behalf of the corporations to collect debts of $84.80 and $42.40 from the couple.

The suit alleges the debts were paid Dec. 9, 1975, but that the checks were not deposited by the corporations until Dec. 19.

Two days before the checks were deposited, judgment against the couple was obtained in Magistrate Court ordering them to pay the $84.80 and $42.40 bills.

A general execution was issued in Magistrate Court in late March demanding payment of the bills, along with $16 court costs and 6 per cent interest on the debts.

The suit alleges that "continuation of the case after said debt had been paid was malicious, intentional and without reasonable cause."

Reagan eyes Colorado after campaign losses

CHICAGO (AP) — Ronald Reagan headed for potentially greener pastures in Colorado today after suffering his worst setback in several weeks in his campaign for the Republican nomination for president.

President Ford gained 24 delegates Thursday and Reagan picked up three in delegate elections in North Dakota and commitments from previously uncommitted delegates in six other states and territories.

That gave Ford 1,028 of the 1,130 delegates needed for the Republican nomination. Reagan, who had been steadily gaining in recent weeks, trails with 979 in The Associated Press' survey of GOP delegates.

Motor vehicles major targets for thieves

Thieves around Sedalia concentrated on burglarizing motor vehicles during Thursday night.

Roland Templeton, 1709 East Seventh, reported the theft of a tape player, two speakers, a tape case and 30 tapes from his car while it was parked in front of his home between 11:15 p.m. Thursday and 6:30 a.m. Friday. Total value for the items was set at $480. A wing window was broken to gain entry to the car.

Another citizens band radio was stolen about 12:50 a.m. Friday. This time from a van owned by Cecil Sears, Atlanta, Mo., while it was parked in the 700 block of South Harding. Sears told police that he was asleep in his trailer behind the van when he heard glass break and saw two men running from the van. His CB was valued at $179.50.

Two vehicles were broken into while their owners were attending races on the State Fairgrounds Thursday night.

Don Stevens, Gravois Mills, reported that a tool tray with tools, a safety kit and flashlight were stolen from his car, parked near the dairy barns. Value was set at $100.

A $34 battery was taken and the interior vandalized in the car of Richard W. Ditzfeld, 1915 South Stewart. The Ditzfeld car was parked near the Administration Building on the Fairgrounds. Both the Ditzfeld and Stevens cars had the wing windows broken out.

The Rev. Morris D. Hunt, pastor of Westside Assembly of God Church, 909 State Fair Blvd., reported to police Thursday the theft of two microphones and amplification equipment valued at $475 and $5 in cash from an office in the church between July 5 and Thursday. Authorities said entry to the church was gained by forcing open a door.

Felix Sullivan, 714 Wilkerson, reported the theft of two tool boxes and miscellaneous tools valued at $200 from his garage between July 6 and Thursday. Entry was reportedly made by raising an unlocked window.

Steve Streb, 3132 West Tenth, reported to police Thursday the theft of a $28 battery from his pickup truck at home between 5 p.m. July 1 and 2 p.m. Thursday.

Hearings waived in sodomy case

Two area men charged with sodomy waived preliminary hearings in Magistrate Court Thursday and were automatically bound over for trial in Circuit Court.

Jerry D. Paul, 34, 232 East Walnut, and David F. Snider, 38, Knob Noster, were arrested June 11 after they were observed by two Sedalia police officers committing an act of sodomy in a rest room outside Liberty Park's Convention Hall.

Both men are free on $2,500 bond.

And Reagan, while still predicting a first-ballot victory next month in Kansas City, devoted a significant portion of his day Thursday to trying to head off second-ballot slippage if the convention gets to that point.

He held several private meetings with about a dozen Indiana delegates — who are legally bound to him only on the first ballot — to solidify their support.

The former California governor planned to meet today with state convention delegates in Colorado. The state meeting was scheduled to elect 25 national convention delegates today and Saturday.

Jim Lake, Reagan's press secretary, said he hoped to win at least 19 of those delegates, which would balance some of Thursday's losses.

Reagan, who spent most of Thursday courting delegates from Illinois and Missouri, as well as those from Indiana, in a marathon series of private meetings at a Chicago hotel, did not comment on the North Dakota loss.

A number of the delegates pledging themselves to Ford Thursday had been expected by both campaigns to go that way. But North Dakota, where Reagan campaigned in person, was a setback, although Lake claimed the opposite.

Reagan had said he hoped for a "rough split," and various aides had predicted winning six to nine of the North Dakota delegates. In voting Thursday, 18 legally uncommitted delegates were elected — 10 who declared for Ford, three for Reagan and five uncommitted.

After Colorado picks its delegates, there will be 55 still to be named, and Ford is the favorite to gain more ground.

Ex-prosecutor, 8 others indicted in Alaska scheme

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A former federal prosecutor and eight other persons have been indicted in an alleged scheme to bring prostitution and gambling to workmen along the trans-Alaska pipeline.

The indictment returned Thursday in U.S. District Court here outlined an alleged conspiracy to set up a multimillion dollar sex and gambling racket with operations near several construction work camps at Valdez, the pipeline's southern terminus.

Among those indicted were Richard L. McVeigh of Anchorage — a former U.S. attorney and onetime state legislator in Alaska — and Alexander Miller of Fairbanks — an executive with Alaskan International Airlines, an ex-Democratic national committeeman and once a legislative assistant to former Alaska Gov. William A. Egan.

The indictment followed a lengthy investigation that began with reports of widespread corruption aimed at tapping the high wages being paid pipeline workers.

The seven-count indictment includes charges of conspiracy, using interstate facilities in the aid of racketeering and interstate transportation of women for the purpose of prostitution.

The San Francisco indictment said several meetings were held here as part of a plan to supply the pipeline workers with prostitutes from Northern

An attorney for McVeigh and Miller, William Brockett of San Francisco, said Thursday, "We are going to enter pleas of not guilty because they are not guilty. We're looking forward to a jury trial."

Others named in the indictment were not available for comment.

Brockett said McVeigh, 43, had done nothing but help the proprietors of a Valdez bar called the Acres get a liquor license. "And two of the co-owners were undercover FBI agents," he said.

"Miller made an introduction but did nothing more," he said, declining to be specific.

Also indicted was Charles "The Blade" Tourine, 69, of Miami, also known as Charles White. Testimony before a U.S. Senate committee in 1973 described him as a Cosa Nostra associate since the mid-1940s and linked him with numbers gambling in the New York-New Jersey area.

The indictment said the alleged conspiracy began about January 1974 and continued to the present, and included plans to approach local law enforcement officers to arrange payoffs to avoid interference with the operations.

Race's future rests with vet

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP) — The future of the Great American Horse Race appears to ride on the question of whether a Wyoming veterinarian is willing to accompany the participants on the last 2,000 miles of their journey.

The race, already in jeopardy because of a dispute between the 80 remaining riders and the organizers of the event, was dealt what could be its death blow Thursday when two of the three veterinarians following it across the country said they wanted no more part in it.

Vets Dave Nicholson and Cary Ridgeway said here that they were quitting because of financial reasons and because they wanted to disassociate themselves from Chapparral Inc. of Kankakee, Ill., and the Great American Horse Race Inc. of Chicago.

The riders, who have been stalled in Hannibal since last weekend, had protested that the organizers fell short of their promises to promote the race, perform advance planning for overnight stops and provide veterinarians and race timers.

After the riders decided to continue on their own, the two vets dropped out, leaving the race one veterinarian short of the required team of two.

A spokesman said that if a Wyoming veterinarian, one of only a few qualified to work for a long-distance endurance ride, agrees to accompany the race the riders and their horses will be transported to St. Joseph, Mo., to continue the race.

Under the format of the race, the riders must spend no more than five consecutive days in one area or forfeit the prize money.

$2,000 sunk by submarines

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Five Kansas Citians sank $2,000 and two days of preparation in 700 submarine sandwiches which they expected to sell to visiting Shriners for $5 each at considerable profit.

Loading the sandwiches in two vans, they hit the streets Monday and tried to peddle them at the end of the Shriners parade. Result: Three sales; one for $3, another for $1.50, a third for $2.

Monday night, they tried again. One sale, for $4. The Shriners weren't buying. At least, not on the street.

The amateur vendors, their dream of a commercial windfall shattered, ate up part of their own profit and distributed the rest to charitable institutions.

Bond: no need for referendum on dam project

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — There is no need for a suggested non-binding referendum on the controversial Meramac Dam project, according to Gov. Christopher S. Bond, a supporter of the proposal.

The governor told newsmen Thursday that suggestion of some St. Louis politicians would be of little value, especially since there is no way to have a referendum placed on the ballot now.

Bond said the state and its congressional delegation have gone on record in favor of the project as much as a decade ago and there was no need to poll the public on the federally funded proposal.

"At this point, I don't see the need for it," Bond said of the proposed referendum, adding that no such balloting could take place unless authorized by the legislature.

He acknowledged, however, that a test of the overall public sentiment toward the multi-million dollar project "might be helpful" in light of the debate it has aroused among conservationists. But again he pointed out the project has already received funding and work is underway.

Fred Harris will become professor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma says he and his family are moving from suburban McLean, Va., to Albuquerque, N.M., at the end of July.

Harris said Thursday he will be a visiting professor of political science at the University of New Mexico, teaching "New Populist Studies" and lecturing in other classes. Harris labeled himself a populist in his last two unsuccessful attempts to get the Democratic nomination for president.

Bicentennial reaping may send prices down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are expected to harvest a record corn crop this year, a Bicentennial reaping of native American grain so large that it could help ease consumer grocery prices through 1977.

A senior Agriculture Department economist says that if the weather continues good, the additional grain will have a major impact on retail food prices. But an activist group, the Community Nutrition Institute, warned that prices would likely rise more than USDA predicts.

The department will announce its first corn production estimate of the season on July 12. Spurred to all-out production by rising demands for grain, farmers will harvest about 72.4 million acres of corn this year, 8 per cent more than in 1975 and the largest acreage in 27 years.

Interviews with officials and farmers in more than a dozen key states which produce 90 per cent of the crop point to a harvest significantly larger than last year's record 5.8 billion bushels.

The USDA has projected a harvest of up to 6.73 billion bushels, but those are book-keeping figures based on probabilities. The July 12 estimate will be based on field surveys taken around July 1.

Last year's huge corn harvest has been an important reason why 1976 food prices have slowed down. Now, according to USDA, consumers will see food costs average 2 to 5 per cent higher this year, compared with an 8.5 per cent gain in 1975 and jumps of 14.5 per cent in each of the two previous years.

The reason is this: Corn is the biggest and most valuable farm crop in the United States. It is a rich life-giving nutrient for animals which produce the beef, pork, lamb, eggs, chicken, turkey, milk and butter for family tables.

When farmers do not have enough corn at reasonable prices to profitably feed the animals, there is less food for American tables and grocery costs soar.

Don Paarlberg, director of economics in the USDA, said that even with another record corn harvest this fall, food prices probably will continue to rise because of rising costs for getting commodities from the farm to the consumer.

"If there is an increase in the retail price of food it is likely to come after the stuff leaves the farmer's gate," he said.

Corn also is in big demand for export to other countries, notably the Soviet Union, Japan and Western Europe, where, as in the United States, it helps produce livestock products for consumers.

During the 1975-76 corn marketing year which will end

Sept. 30 when the new harvest is ready, about 1.65 billion bushels — nearly 30 per cent of last year's record harvest — will be exported. The Soviet Union, as the largest single foreign customer, has bought about 475 million bushels of the export total.

Farm Bureau to lobby for ag research funds

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Intense lobbying for increased funding of agricultural research by the 60,000 member Missouri Farm Bureau Federation has been pledged by that group's president.

C. R. Johnston said on Thursday current funding of research at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture makes it "a real folly" for professors to try to supply adequate scientific information to farmers.

"I don't think the financial needs of the College of Agriculture have ever been presented to the public, school officials or the legislature in a manner they understand," said Johnston, who also serves on the university's Board of Curators.

"As Missouri farmers no longer farm with horses, neither can our college continue to work with outdated facilities and equipment," Johnston said in a statement.

His statement also included a list of funding priorities headed by $300,000 for improvements at the state Agricultural Experiment Station and $9.1 million for an animal science research center.

"If we continue to limp along with yesterday's research methods and never provide the modern facilities needed for research, information and education at our university, then Missouri agriculture will suffer," said Johnston, noting farming is the state's top industry.

"Ultimately, the consumer will be the end target of higher food prices if good agriculture research is not provided for Missouri farmers," he concluded.

K.C. police stop shoot-out

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A young man stepped up to the records counter at police headquarters, asked a routine question and got a reply, then pulled a shotgun from its carrying case and fired at the clerk.

In quick succession after the opening gunshot Thursday: —The clerk, Mark W. Slocum, dropped to the floor unhurt, protected by a bulletproof shield around the counter which stopped the charge. Three other men, waiting to pay fines, also ducked.

—Police said the gunman, identified as Daniel D. Cowser, 20, was challenged by Patrolman Elmer J. Lattelle and Sgt. Harry V. Brashier, who pulled their service revolvers and ordered Cowser to surrender his weapon.

—When Cowser began reloading, police said, Brashier fired. The slug struck Cowser in the left shoulder, the impact knocking him through the front doorway.

—Lattelle rushed to his side and kicked away the 12-gauge pump shotgun.

A homicide detective, Delbert C. Gibson, asked the wounded man why he had fired the shotgun, and quoted him as replying:

"Police have been following me all around; I just decided to go shoot a policeman."

Cowser was taken to General Hospital, where he was reported in poor condition Thursday night.

Police said Cowser had no police record, other than a traffic ticket issued Jan. 7.

"I wasn't going to let him fire again at my clerks," said Brashier, supervisor of the records unit.

Democrats to solicit money

NEW YORK (AP) — The television commercial interruptions of the Democratic National Convention next week will include advertisements of the Democrats, by the Democrats, for the Democrats.

The message: Send money. The Democratic National Committee has bought eight television spots, two each on two networks, Monday and Wednesday night.

"We'll have primarily a Democratic audience," S. Lee Kling, the party finance chairman, said in an interview Thursday. "What better time to say to them, 'We'd like you to support us with small contributions.'"

The Democrats have raised money previously by staging telethons, but this will be the first time they've joined soap and deodorants to appeal for the dollar.

The commercials will cost in the neighborhood of $120,000, Kling said, and will star party chairman Robert S. Strauss and others not yet selected.

Officials wanted to have the contributions sent to Box 1976, in keeping with the year, but alas, someone else already has the magic number.

The federal government, through the dollar income-tax checkoff, is picking up the $2-182,000 convention cost. With no convention costs to worry about, the Democrats are concentrating on raising $10 million for the campaign ahead.

The law allows individual contributions of no more than $1,000 to the candidate, but individual donations of up to $20,000 can be made to the party.

"The fat cat this year will really be the person who gives us $20,000," Kling says.

The campaigns after the conventions also will be financed by the taxpayer to the tune of $21,820,000 each if the candidate does no fundraising on his own, but the parties can spend money in his behalf.

The Democrats want to help out their man with $3.5 million.

Kling says if the $10 million goal is realized, the DNC will spend $2.5 million for voter registration, $1.5 million for a get-out-the-vote campaign and $1 million for training campaign workers, polling and such.

"We will have $2 million for the first time to put into several congressional races," says Kling. "We never really had funds for congressional candidates before."

'The Fonz' returns to series, filming

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was "Happy Days" at Paramount Television with Henry Winkler back in the cast of the ABC series after a two-day absence.

"Everything has been worked out," a company spokesman said Thursday.

Winkler, "The Fonz" of the situation comedy, had been absent from the resumption of filming for the new season, reportedly in a move to improve his contract terms.

FACTS

The Massachusetts Government Act of May 20, 1774, one of the Intolerable Acts, prescribed that effective August 1, the Massachusetts Council would no longer be elected by the House of Representatives, but appointed by the royal governor on a "royal writ of Mandamus." The 36 appointed by Gage became marked men, their names being printed in the Whig press. The World Almanac recalls that Israel Williams was "smoked to a Whig" when the doors and chimney of his house were closed by a mob.

Is Ralph Nader's star on the decline?

By TOM TIEDE
NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON — All heroes become bores in the end, but Ralph Nader?

Ten years ago when he published his classic work on the car as citrus "Unsafe at Any Speed," he was a worried-looking nobody with a sense that the world was mad — and he was wonderful. Since then he has published 40 more books, organized into a dozen corporations, hasn't said a positive word about anything on the continent — and appears increasingly to be wearing out his welcome.

Tiede

Assuredly, Big N always had critics. Corporation barons, government flunkies — those kinds of people. Now, however, his worth is decreasing in the public sector. College kids don't send him money so readily as before; the press is not so easily manipulated to praise his view; and, most importantly, there are even one or two consumers who are beginning to wonder about the wisdom of a man who, in the name of progress, would give the government of Wayne Hays, William Simon and Hubert Humphrey greater control over private industry.

This erosion of public confidence in Nader did not set in suddenly. It started, perhaps, when the man of the people lobbied successfully for such things as automobile seatbelt buzzers. In the old days they would have guillotined a man for less. Nader was spared but cautioned: "Ralph, you can't help humanity by driving it crazy." Nader responded by lobbying for buzzers on the ignition switch as well.

And this is what he has become, to a degree: arrogant. Once when he presented a $34.12 ticket to Allegheny Airlines for a flight, he was apologetically refused a seat. The airline said it had overbooked the flight, which was a hedge against those ticket-holders who traditionally do not show at departure time. The airline said, correctly, that if the overbooking procedure was not followed the fare costs would eventually go up. To hell with higher prices, said Nader, who earns $250,000 a year himself, and besides has most of his fares paid by others. And he has sued. This is consumer protection?

There are those who say Ralph Nader has become not so much arrogant as touchy. And perhaps this is kinder as well as more accurate. It was not arrogance, after all, that led him to withdraw his name this year from the Massachusetts presidential primary, and it was certainly a matter of remarkable sensitivity when he gave his reasons: "Arbitrary and capricious," he said of the state's decision to include his name on the ballot, then he followed by accusing Massachusetts officials of conspiring to turn him into a "partisan politician." How awful.

Indeed, for a man who can dish it out, Nader is uncommonly delicate when it comes to affronts against him, real or imagined. He brooks no criticism from the unwashed. Currently he is suing a writer named Ralph de Toledano for $1,005,000 worth of libel. De Toledano's offense? He dared to write that Nader used "falsified and distorted evidence to make his case against the automobile." Every Nader foe east of Detroit has said the same thing, but Big N is making certain De Toledano doesn't say it again, at least for awhile. There is nothing like a civil suit to dampen the first amendment. It narrows the enthusiasm greatly when one sees he may go broke for his opinions.

And yet Nader believes in nothing so much as opinions, his own: nuclear power must be stopped; safe automobiles must be manufactured, however financially impractical; the nation needs yet another bureaucracy acting for consumers.

Lately Big N has even been hinting of economic revolution; and though he does quite well himself in the present system — in 1974 he raised $1.4 million from college students who checked off portions of their school fees to him — he nonetheless is pushing for government of the John Kenneth Galbraith kind of socialism.

For many, Big N's ideas still have merit, even excitement. But what is worrisome is that they now smack, as does he, of zealotry. Big N was born without a neutral gear, he would either be the man who saves us with foresight or destroys us through blindness. As time passes that choice seems less and less appropriate. Undoubtedly, Ralph Nader is still a wonder. He is offensive, though when he tries to walk on water.

Board gets ball on fluoridation

A new factor was thrown into the fluoridation question this week that could simplify the steps by which the city may adopt the process.

The Missouri Department of Natural Resources informed the Water Board that it had the authority to fluoridate the city's water supply. The board had thought that City Council approval was required.

It was under this assumption that the Water Board passed a resolution June 2 asking the City Council to pass a fluoridation ordinance. The council's response was to call for another opinion ballot on the issue.

That ballot is scheduled for the Aug. 3 primary election. The last test came in April of 1972, when city voters turned down fluoridation by a 145-vote margin out of 4,909 cast.

It was also learned by the Water Board that the state is still ready to furnish the needed fluoridation equipment free of cost. This could amount to a savings of as much as $3,500.

The four-member Water Board, which was unanimous in urging the City Council to adopt fluoridation on June 2, has indicated that it will await the results of the opinion ballot before making a decision, although it evidently has the authority to go ahead regardless.

This is a sensible decision, since little would be gained by deciding on a course of action that might be at variance with the majority of public opinion in the community.

For our part, we still believe that the preponderance of scientific evidence is still on the side of fluoridation. We hope the local committee that has been formed to support this viewpoint will adequately present the facts before the public.

Lockheed locks out government auditors

By JACK ANDERSON with
LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — The incredible Lockheed Corp., plagued with mismanagement, on the brink of bankruptcy, under fire for bribery, had the temerity recently to chase federal auditors from its door.

The industrial colossus is dependent upon the Pentagon for a whopping $2 billion worth of business a year. The corporate managers brought the company to such a state that the government had to bail it out with a multi-million-dollar federal loan guarantee. It developed, meanwhile, that the firm had diverted millions to bribe foreign officials.

Yet company officials, according to a Lockheed memo intended for corporate eyes only, refused to grant government auditors access to the books. The auditors were trying to determine whether Lockheed had taken unwarranted and excessive profits on a number of Pentagon contracts, which is strictly forbidden by law. Despite limited access to Lockheed's books, examiners for the Defense Contract Audit Agency (DCAA) discovered that the corporation may have taken $83 million too much profit during fiscal 1972.

The DCAA auditors found, for example, that Lockheed improperly charged the government $36.6 million for contributions, advertisements, sales promotions and entertainment. DCAA documents also contend that the firm charged Uncle Sam "almost $2 million" for questionable "overhead costs."

Normally the Renegotiation Board, not the DCAA, polices military contracts. The board is a toothless tiger that, more often than not, accepts the contractors' figures without bothering to verify them.

Lockheed's books had aroused such notoriety, however that the board asked the DCAA for help. This apparently upset the corporate brass.

"DCAA did attempt to pursue such audit activities in two of our divisions," reported Thomas J. O'Hara, a corporate vice president, in an April 1 memo, "but I refused to grant them access."

He contended that the Renegotiation Board should be conducting the audit, declaring militantly: "The industry must line up its argument as to why the DCAA's role in renegotiation is ill-advised, illegal and/or improper."

The documents reveal why defense contractors would rather deal with the Renegotiation Board. In the Lockheed case, the board was about to approve the company's figures without question until one nervous member, Goodwin Chase, raised objections. He wanted the DCAA to check the books.

The request brought an immediate protest from board member Christopher Sylvester, whose pro-industry bias had been unshaken by Lockheed's misfeasance. "The contractor must be considered as a satisfactory performer," argued Sylvester with quixotic logic. "Were it otherwise, Lockheed would not be the nation's largest defense contractor today."

Nevertheless, the DCAA examiners were brought in. It didn't take them long to discover $83 million in misused money that the Renegotiation Board was about to overlook.

Meanwhile, Rep. Joseph Minish, D-N.J., has pushed legislation through the House that would give DCAA a larger role in examining the books of defense contractors. The bill is bitterly opposed by Lockheed, as an internal memorandum makes clear.

"It has passed the House and is hopefully stalled in the Senate..." states the memo. "June 30 is the drop dead date."

But the bill didn't quite expire on June 30, no thanks to Senate Finance Chairman Russell Long, D-La., who has let it gather cobwebs in his committee.

DEAD DUCKS — A Taiwanese company is trying to sell the United States new Christmas tree ornaments, which look like stuffed ducks, wobble like stuffed ducks and, indeed, are stuffed ducks.

The company first crushes a live duck, then removes its insides. Then the duck is stuffed and decorated. The Humane Society, in high dudgeon, is seeking to stop the importation.

Books to read this summer

By DOUG KNEIBERT

Well, it's that time of year once again when we make up our summer reading list. There were so many good titles to choose from that the task was a bit difficult.

Nevertheless, I would recommend the following:

1. Politics is, of course, very much with us these days, and a new title that is getting a lot of attention is, "Brother, Can You Spare a Delegate?" by Gerald Ford.

2. From the world of sports comes this inspirational little book, "Money Isn't Everything," by Charles O. Finley.

3. How-to books are always popular, and a best-seller this season is, "Principles of Secretarial Science," by Elizabeth Ray.

4. "Jimmy, I Didn't Mean a Word of It," is the title of a collection of essays by such noted writers as Hubert Humphrey, Henry Jackson, Birch Bayh, Mo Udall, Frank Church and many others.

5. A newly-discovered manuscript that has been turned into a best seller is "Introduction to Handwriting Analysis," by the late Howard Hughes.

6. For the military buff, "Great Commando Raids," by Field Marshal Idi Amin, is recommended.

7. For the tourist, an invaluable guide is, "Having Fun in Washington," by Rep. Wayne Hays.

8. Various members of the Republican National Committee have contributed to this timely book, "The Kansas City Massacre."

9. For those who like horror stories, "We Found the Loch Ness Monster," by Postmaster General Benjamin Bailer, is recommended.

10. One of the great success stories in American politics is told in, "I Can't Believe I Ate the Whole Thing," by Jimmy Carter.

Favors bike ordinance

First of all, I personally would like to commend Policeman Manley White on his hours spent in the drawing up of the bicycle ordinance and his willingness to stand up for what he believes.

Parents, what are the reasons for not wanting a required registration for bicycles? Somewhere along the line I must have gotten the wrong impression of parents or something.

If it is the problem of the 25-cent fee for registration, there must be a way of providing that. Maybe don't drink that one can of beer today or not smoke two cigarettes. If all else fails, call me and I will be happy to scrape up 25 cents.

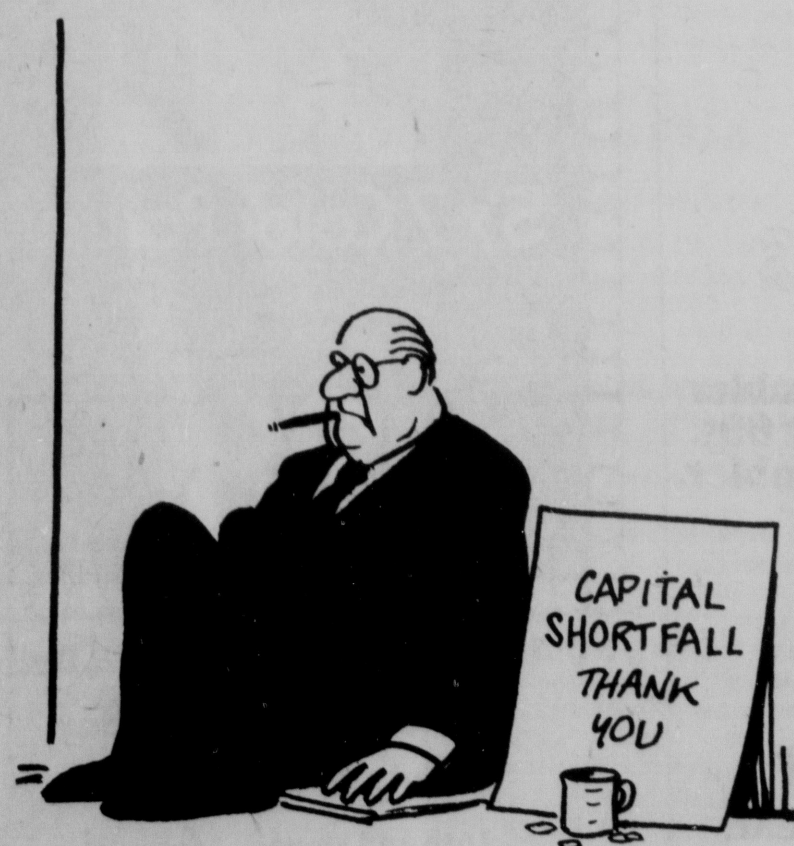

If you have not had a bicycle stolen, and never returned, maybe you are unconcerned. But my family, for one, cannot afford to buy a new bike each year or two.

Also, if a child is not punished for stealing a bike now, later it will be a stolen car.

Cracks track record

Dick Morris turns it on in qualifying

By VAUGHN HART Sports Editor

While some of the better-known drivers were getting most of the pre-race publicity before Thursday's opening evening of the Second-annual Missouri Sprint Nationals, Dick Morris of Sioux City, Iowa, probably was just like another name on the program to the slim crowd in the grandstand.

But by the time the opening night had run its course, Morris looked like a top contender for Saturday night's A-feature, where the winner gets $2,000 of the $15,000 purse.

Morris set fast time, a record in fact, won his qualifying heat race and took the winner's check in the added cash dash.

Morris, the fifth qualifier of 33 cars who took their time trials Thursday night, was clocked at 22.06 on the half-mile dirt track, breaking the one-lap record that had stood for five years. Steve Shultz, a former Sedalia race car driver now living in Indianapolis, Ind., set the previous record at the 1971 Sedalia Jaycees Memorial Day Races at 22.45.

The early qualifiers found the track to their liking. Three of the four quick times came from the first five qualifiers on the track. Dave Dwyer, who had an impressive night, was the third driver on the track and clocked in second quick with his 22.32. Dwyer, Columbia, went on to win his qualifying heat race and ran second to Morris in the cash dash.

The first qualifier of the night, the 1975 Knoxville Nationals Super-modified winner Eddie Leavitt of Kearney, Mo., timed in fourth quick with his 22.71. The night's third fastest qualifier was Chuck Amati of Freeman Spur, Ill., at 22.66. Amati was the 26th driver on the track for the time trials.

About half of the field is set for Saturday night's A-feature. The balance of the field for that race will be decided at tonight's qualifying, which is scheduled to open at 7 p.m. with hot laps.

The 12 drivers who placed in the top three spots in their respective heat races and earned spots in the Saturday night main are Morris, Tom Corbin (Carrollton), Steve

Olympic officials seek suitable compromise

MONTREAL (AP)—Olympic officials strove for a last minute compromise agreement with the Canadian government today as Taiwan's Olympics team, center of a political controversy, headed for Montreal.

A group of 36 members of the Taiwan Olympic team, including approximately 20 athletes, arrived in Los Angeles Thursday night. After a two-hour stopover, the group took off for Chicago, the second leg on its journey to Montreal, where the delegation was supposed to arrive later today.

Lawrence S. Ting, chief of Taiwan's Olympic mission, said during the stop in Los Angeles that he was hopeful the Canadian government would abide by IOC regulations.

"In 1936, Hitler was trying to intervene in the Olympic Games in Germany," Ting said. "After the IOC's strong representation, Hitler changed his mind and respected IOC rules. So I really hope the Canadian leaders will come to their senses, turn around, if they are not worse than Hitler in terms of sensibility."

Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee, called a hurried meeting of his tripartite commission, made up of delegates from the IOC, the international sports federations and the national Olympic committees. He had hoped to find a compromise to put to the Canadian government before the Taiwanese plane touched down.

The Olympic Games, scheduled to begin July 17, could be threatened if agreement was not reached over the Taiwanese.

Willi Daume of Germany, a vice-president of the IOC and a member of the commission, said: "I do not think there will be any move to make the athletes compete under the name of Taiwan, or Formosa. We recognize them as the Republic of China. But we shall try to find some sort of compromise."

In 1969, when Montreal bid for the Games, the Canadian government pledged free entry for all national Olympic

Chiefs rookies report Saturday

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rookies open the Kansas City Chiefs training camp Saturday, with at least seven given a shot at landing immediate help to a club that has suffered through consecutive 5-9 seasons.

Veterans report to the Chiefs training complex on the campus of William Jewell College July 13.

Defensive tackles Cliff Frazier, 6-4, 256 pounds, and Keith Simons, 6-3, 254, Kansas City's second and third 1975 draft picks, will add instant depth to a thin front wall that was made even thinner by the retirement of battle-scarred veteran Buck Buchanan.

Rod Walters, the Chiefs' No. 1 pick from Iowa, will face stiffer competition at offensive guard from old pro Ed Budde and veterans Randy Beisler and Roger Bernhardt.

Chiefs coaches, forced last season to constantly re-juggle the offensive line because of a swarm of injuries, were delighted to land the 6-3, 258-pound Walters.

"He's going to be a fine football player for us and have a long, long career here," coach Paul Wiggin said at the time. "We've studied film on this guy. He can pull very well and he can hit."

Henry Marshall, the acrobatic big-play wide receiver from Missouri, could crack the starting lineup quicker than any of his first-year brethren. The 6-1½, 205-

Promoter Dale Hassler of Fulton, Mo., is expecting nearly 40 additional cars for tonight's qualifying. Tonight's program will be the same as Thursday's — time trials, four heat races, a cash dash and a consolation feature for non-qualifiers.

Saturday night's show will also begin at 7 p.m. with warm-ups. The first of the three feature events will take the green around 8 p.m.

Robert back with Sabres

BUFFALO (AP) — Just 38 days after he became a free agent, right winger Rene Robert signed a new multi-year contract with his old National Hockey League team, the Buffalo Sabres.

A member of the high-scoring French Connection line, Robert "didn't really talk to any other clubs" before signing for an undisclosed figure, he told a news conference Thursday.

Robert, 27, played for the Sabres in four full seasons here. He scored 35 goals and had 52 assists last season.

To Region 8 meet

David Paul, one of two qualifiers who earned berths in this weekend's Region 8 AAU Junior Olympics meet in Poplar Bluff, will compete against the junior division field in the mile run.

Paul won the mile in last month's Missouri Valley AAU meet in Lawrence, Kan., and qualified to advance to the Poplar Bluff competition.

One other Sedalian, Mike Riley, won the senior division shot put and placed second in the discus, but has decided to bypass the Poplar Bluff meet, according to local AAU official Paul Klover.

Paul's winning time at Lawrence was 4:54.1, which broke the previous record of 4:54.6 in the Missouri Valley record book. Paul's clocking also bettered the Missouri junior boys record, which previously was 5:02.1.

Johnson tabs 3 more Royals

NEW YORK (AP) — Butch Wynegar, who would become the youngest All-Star participant if he plays, and Willie Randolph, the first rookie ever listed on an All-Star ballot, were among the 11 reserves named today to complete the 28-man American League All-Star team.

Wynegar, the Minnesota Twins' prize catcher, will be 20 years, three months, 29 days old Tuesday night, when the AL meets the National League at Philadelphia in the 47th All-Star Game.

Randolph, second baseman for the New York Yankees, already broke ground when he was listed on the ballot. He finished second to Baltimore's Bobby Grich in the fans' voting.

Boston Manager Darrell Johnson named two other Yankees, frontrunners in the AL East, to the squad — first baseman Chris Chambliss and outfielder Mickey Rivers. He also named a trio of players from Kansas City, the leader in the AL West — outfielders Hal McRae and Amos Otis and shortstop Fred Patek.

Also selected for the AL team, which has lost 12 of the last 13 midseason games, were catcher Carlton Fisk and first baseman Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, Baltimore shortstop Mark Belanger and Milwaukee third baseman Don Money.

Six of the 11 reserves have been selected for the All-Star Game in the past. Patek was on the team in 1972, Money in 1974 and McRae in 1975. Otis has made the All-Star team four times, Fisk has been given the honor three times and Yastrzemski will be participating in the game for the 13th time.

Johnson mainly selected runner-ups from the All-Star balloting, with the exception of McRae, who finished eighth in the outfield voting but is the AL's leading designated hitter at .338, and Wynegar, who was fifth in the balloting for catchers. But Wynegar led all write-in candidates in both leagues with 561,488 votes.

Six Yankees are on the complete AL squad, which consists of the reserves, pitchers chosen by Johnson, and eight starters selected by the fans. Yankees catcher Thurman Munson was the fans' choice, while pitchers Catfish Hunter and Sparky Lyle were two of Johnson's nine pitching picks.

The other pitchers on the squad are Mark Fydrich of Detroit, Rollie Fingers of Oakland, Rich Gossage of the Chicago White Sox, Dave LaRoche of Cleveland, Frank Tanana of California, Luis Tiant of Boston and Bill Travers of Milwaukee.

George Brett of Kansas City, the AL's top hitter, was picked by the fans as the starting third baseman. The other electees were first baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, second baseman Grich, shortstop Toby Harrah of Texas and outfielders Fred Lynn of Boston and Ron LeFlore and Rusty Staub of Detroit.

Southpaw Jones: No. 16, climbing

CHICAGO (AP) — "I think 16 wins is enough work for half a season. I'd like to start the All-Star game on Tuesday."

So said San Diego's Randy Jones, 16-3, the winningest pitcher in National League history at an All-Star break.

Jones, who surrendered seven hits and was in trouble only twice enroute to a 6-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Thursday, was talking about the chance to tie Vida Blue's major league mark of 17 victories at the All-Star recess, set in 1971.

To do so, Jones would have to start Sunday in Philadelphia on only two days rest and Padres Manager John McNamara said he won't do it.

"I think his arm might be a little tired and I won't use him unless it's in relief and the game is in the balance," said McNamara.

Jones' victory was his 15th complete game in 21 starts, his fourth straight victory and his 11th in his last 12 starts.

It came one game past the halfway mark in the season for the Padres and made Jones the first potential 30-game winner in the NL since Dizzy Dean was 30-7 for St. Louis in 1934.

Not bad for a 26-year-old southpaw, only in his third major league season with a history of a sore arm and a fast ball that makes hitters scoff and wouldn't earn him a second look with most major league scouts today.

Yet, he's proved a continual frustration to some of the best hitters and already has reached the heights only a few of the games greatest hurlers ever achieved.

His secret? A sinker and a slider that hitters can't distinguish, pinpoint control and concentration that amazes his pitching coach, Roger Craig.

"He possesses a sinker and a slider that both drop," says Craig. "They look the same to a hitter but they break in opposite directions. The slider goes into a right-handed hitter, the sinker moves away."

Jones has averaged only 95 pitches per game this year, once throwing as few as 67, according to Craig.

Earlier this season, Jones matched a 63-year-old NL record, hurling 68 innings without yielding a walk. The all-time record of 84 1-3 innings was set by Kansas City's Bill Fisher of the American League in 1962.

Smelser, two others leave

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — Offensive guard Dennis Smelser of Texas A&M, called "the best offensive prospect we had in camp" by Coach Dick Vermeil, has voluntarily left the Philadelphia Eagles training camp along with two other rookies.

"Sometimes a kid gets real down," Vermeil said Thursday. "In Dennis' case, he misses his wife in Texas, who is pregnant. And there are a lot of emotional things they go through."

The others who left camp, which opened Monday, were defensive tackle Jose Gonzales of the University of Miami and offensive tackle John Jacobi of West Texas State. All three are free agents.

Miller retakes lead; Spanish teen falters

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Johnny Miller shot in to the lead midway through the third round of the British Open Golf Championship today.

Miller, who started the day at 140, two strokes back of leader Severiano Ballesteros, got hot while Ballesteros faltered. At the end of the first eight holes Miller led the 19-year-old Spaniard by two strokes.

Miller took the lead on the short, par-three seventh hole when he parred. Ballesteros bogeyed the hole. Miller added another stroke to his lead when he birdied the 470-yard, par-four eighth.

Ballesteros lost two stroke on the first two holes of the par-72, 7,001-yard Royal Birkdale course that was hit by rain today but was not affected by it. He missed on a six-foot putt on the opening hole for a bogey and then bogeyed No. 2 when he needed a putt from eight feet.

Miller missed a chance to tie for the lead when he missed a four-foot putt on No. 2 for a bogey. But he did gain a tie when he drove to just a foot from the cup on the par-three, 206-yard fourth and made the putt.

As the afternoon rounds started, a driving rain started to beat down in earnest and it was back to traditional British Open weather. When the rain stopped, it had not made much of impression on the parched fairways and greens. But the wind was still blowing in from the sea and making low scoring very difficult.

Before the rain began to fall, another fire broke out in the area along the 13th fairway. Firemen, standing by at the course because of the tinder-box conditions, doused the fire in 15 minutes.

Several other fires in the bushy rough that covers Royal Birkdale had broken out earlier in the week.

Hubert Green and Christy O'Connor of Ireland, who were tied at 142 after two rounds, had six bogies between them on the first six holes.

But their problems hardly matched those of Jerry Pate, the U.S. Open winner, who started the day at even par. Pate took an incredible eight on the par-four 11th and double bogeys on the fourth, sixth and 12th holes.

All-Stars pin Pilot Grove in Twinbill

PILOT GROVE — The West-Central Missouri Fast-Pitch Softball League All-Stars whipped league-leading Pilot Grove on its own field here Thursday night in the annual all-star game doubleheader.

Tom Millican of Whiteman Air Force Base tossed a two-hitter for the all-stars in the opener and hurled them to a 6-0 win. Marty Wesselman absorbed the loss for Pilot Grove, which led the league at the end of the first half of the season.

In the second game, the all-stars pulled out a 10-7 decision. Don Lutjen was the winner in relief of starter Gordon Carpenter. Lutjen pitches for Cole Camp. Carpenter, Clarksburg, provided the twinbill with its only home run of the game.

Tim Schrott was charged with the loss.

Phils, Reds dominate N.L. All-Star squad

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Cincinnati's Big Red Machine and Philadelphia's machine-packed Phillies placed a combined 12 players on the National League All-Star team. Surprise — they're all hitters.

The Phillies, way out in front in the NL East, will have five players competing in front of their home fans at Veterans Stadium Tuesday night for the 47th All-Star Game. The Reds, leaders in the NL West, added two reserves to the five Cincinnati starters the fans had chosen earlier.

Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson Thursday picked 11 reserves, including four Phillies, to fill his NL roster to 28 players. The four Phillies were catcher Bob Boone, second baseman Dave Cash, shortstop Larry Bowa and third baseman Mike Schmidt.

Earlier, the fans had selected Philadelphia outfielder Greg Luzinski as an All-Star starter.

Anderson also named two of his own players, outfielder Ken Griffey and first baseman Tony Perez. With the fans' previous selections of Cincinnati's three other infielders, second baseman Joe Morgan, shortstop Dave Concepcion and third baseman Pete Rose, the NL could field an all-Cincinnati infield sometime in the game. The fans also named Cincinnati outfielder George Foster to the starting lineup.

The other reserves chosen by Anderson were third baseman Ron Cey and shortstop Bill Russell of Los Angeles, catcher Steve Swisher of the Chicago Cubs and outfielders Cesar Cedeño of Houston, Al Oliver of Pittsburgh and Bake McBride of St. Louis.

Anderson agreed with the fans' overall balloting, choosing the runners-up in the voting at each position. At shortstop, Bowa, the second choice, and Russell, the third pick, were both named to the squad. Boone was the second leading vote-getter at catcher, while Swisher, the Cubs' mandatory one representative on the squad, was the seventh choice in the fans' balloting.

In the outfield voting, McBride, hitting .342, and Griffey, batting .334, were the top runners-up. Oliver finished ninth in the balloting but leads the major leagues in hitting with a .363 average. Anderson passed over Lou Brock of St. Louis, Rick Monday of Chicago and Garry Maddox of Philadelphia to get to Oliver, the one Pittsburgh representative on the team.

Anderson didn't name any Cincinnati or Philadelphia pitchers for his eight-man pitching staff. The NL pitchers selected were Randy Jones of San Diego, who won his 16th game Thursday, Tom Seaver and Jon Matlack of the New York Mets, Rick Rhoden of Los Angeles, Woodie Fryman of Montreal, John Montefusco of San Francisco, Ken Forsch of Houston and Andy Messersmith of Atlanta. Because of an injury, Messersmith was replaced by Dick Ruthven of Atlanta.

The NL starters will be Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench, first baseman Steve Garvey of Los Angeles, Morgan, Concepcion, Rose, outfielders Foster, Luzinski and Dave Kingman of the Mets.

Walkers will stop in Sedalia

A group of 30 persons walking coast to coast on a Continental Walk for Disarmament and Social Justice will be in Sedalia July 23.

Speakers in the group will give a program and a pot luck supper will be served that evening at either Sacred Heart School or Immanuel Church of Christ, where they will spend the night before continuing their trip through Otterville, Tipton, California and Jefferson City.

The group, which plans to be in Columbia by July 31, left San Francisco in January en route to Washington, D.C. They are sponsored by church groups and individuals across the nation.

Sedalians are invited to attend the program, which will encourage activism in the social justice issue, particularly racial and sexual equality, better law enforcement and nuclear disarmament.

Polly's pointers

Dripping faucet leaves its mark

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with those who attend a public affair and relate between sneezes and coughs how sick they have been and how they really should be at home in bed at that very moment. — MRS. L.J.G.

DEAR READERS — Louise asked how she could use homemade soap in her washing machine and Mrs. C.J. wrote that she had done this for years. She grates the soap on a sliver type slaw or vegetable grater, however her favorite way is to use a cone type salad maker, using the coarse sliver cone. Mabel grinds her homemade soap in her food chopper or meat grinder and sometimes soaks a bar in water in a closed two-pound coffee can with a plastic lid, and then keeps the can in a warm spot such as on top of her furnace in the basement. Both say it is best to let the soap age or harden, so as much moisture as possible evaporates before grating, chopping, etc. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — A quick and easy way to slice mushrooms is to use your egg slicer, after the mushrooms are thoroughly cleaned. — MARY E.

DEAR POLLY — I save empty facial tissue boxes and always put an empty one next to a full one, when my grandchildren are here and have colds. The empty one serves as a waste container. No longer do I have soiled tissues tossed about. This is also great when anyone is ill. The containers can be close and handy and when full the entire thing is thrown away. — PEGGY

DEAR POLLY — I have found that most people do not realize how effective "capillary" action is when trying to remove a spot from something. Capillary is a blotter type reaction. Placing something with a texture that will absorb UNDER the spot, then each time the cleaner or spot remover is applied move the white blotter type material underneath to a clean spot. The spots are removed 100 per cent more effectively. — BETTYE JUNE.

DEAR POLLY — Before our family leaves on a camping trip, I dip the tips of kitchen matches in nail polish so the sulphur tips will not get damp and they will strike easily.

Headed for Prudhoe Bay

Three tugs leave Seattle for Prudhoe Bay, Alaska, to join those that left last week for a rendezvous at Port Clarence. From there it's on to Prudhoe Bay for the annual sealift of construction materials for the oil pipeline base. Prudhoe is ice now, but the pack is expected to break up by Aug. 1. Last year's flotilla was iced in, but no problems are expected this year.

Two choral groups offer entertainment

Two choral groups composed of local citizens provided a musical emphasis to the Sedalia Fourth of July bicentennial festivities held last Saturday and Sunday at Liberty Park.

One 25-member group, under the direction of Melvin Kerr on piano and Bruce Kerr on bass guitar, sang arrangements of "God Bless America," and "What the Worlds Needs Now is Love."

A second ensemble, featuring representatives from various local church choirs, sang "Battle Hymn of the Republic," "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "Let There Be Peace on Earth." This group was directed by Michael Rooks and accompanied on piano by Marjorie Steen.

Ask TV scout

Music fan

Where can I write to get the music to Hawaii Five-O? And where can I write to get information about The Young and the Restless? — Donna Larreo, Canay, Ark.

Mort Stevens is the show's music director. Write him at CBS Television City, Hollywood, Calif. 90036. On The Young and the Restless, write producer John Conboy, Columbia Pictures Television, Burbank, Calif. 91505.

Another music fan

Would you tell me who sings the title song of Welcome Back, Kotter and if I can purchase it in any record store? — A.G., Chicago, Ill.

John Sebastian is the singer and the song is not available at this writing, as either a record or sheet music.

Young show

We were watching Gig Young on Johnny Carson's show. What was the series he was in in the mid-60s? David Niven also starred. What reason was given for taking it off the air? — Ann Campbell, Lubbock, Tex.

The show was The Rogues. Besides Young and Niven, it starred Charles Boyer, Gladys Cooper and Robert Coote. It was on in 1964 and low ratings were the cause of the demise. Those of us who remember it, do so with affection.

Mail call

Who is the producer of Starsky and Hutch and where can I write him? Also, who produces S.W.A.T. and where can I write him? — Kim Sheridan, Glens Falls, N.Y.

Guess what? Both shows are produced by Spelling-Goldberg productions, so you can write Aaron Spelling at 20th Century-Fox Productions, 10100 Pico Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90213.

Scandal uncovered?

I was watching an episode of Happy Days in which Richie told a burglar not to take a platter because he and his brother had bought it for their parents' 10th anniversary. Richie is at least 17 and his brother must be at least 20, so how could that be? — G.P., Chicago, Ill.

You didn't uncover a scandal in the Cunningham family. You misunderstood. The dialogue had Richie saying he and his brother had saved to buy the present for their 10th anniversary, years earlier.

Big David

My questions are about David Hartman who played Lucas Tanner on TV. Is he married? Does he have any children? Where can I write him. Also, where was he born? — Sandy Ebeling, Plainview, Tex.

David is married and has been for about two years. He and his wife Maureen are parents of an infant. He's now hosting an early morning show for ABC-TV called Good Morning, America. Write him in care of the network at 4151 Prospect Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif. 90047. He was born in Pawtucket, R.I. in 1935.

Easy

Could you please tell me where I could write Miss Cloris Leachman? — L.W., Chicago, Ill.

Sure could. Write the fine actress at CBS Television Center, 4024 Radford Ave., Studio City, Calif. 91604. That's where her series Phyllis is filmed.

Was not, is

How old is Agnes Moorehead? — D. Ralston, Great Falls, Mont.

Miss Moorehead, who is dead, lived 68 years.

Wizard question

When was "The Wizard of Oz" made and why is the first part in black and white? — Bill Bennett, Montgomery, Pa.

The Judy Garland classic was made in 1939. Technicolor was not the foregone conclusion in those days that it is today and the idea of having the first part in black and white was to contrast the drab early life of Dorothy to the color and excitement of Oz.

Walker stick

How tall is Jimmie Walker of Good Times and where can I write him? — Milton Crane, Little Rock, Ark.

Jimmie is 6 feet 1 but he looks much taller because he only weighs 130 pounds. Write him at Tandem Productions, Metromedia Square, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

Ages two

How old is Leif Garrett and where can I write him? Also, how old is Dawn Lyn? — Jennis Luhn, San Jose, Calif.

Leif has just turned 14 and Dawn, who happens to be his sister, is 13. Write Leif at CBS Studio Center, 4024 Radford Ave., Studio City, Calif. 91604. His series Three For the Road has been canceled, but the mail will reach him.

Good question

What has happened to the good old action movies which used to be on TV? For example, pictures with George Raft and Joel McCrea? I feel if we had no movies at all, there would still be violent people walking the streets. — J.E.A., Chicago, Ill.

Pictures with Raft and McCrea are now golden oldies and are generally not shown much on TV anymore. A good old-fashioned good guys vs.

bad guys western did not stimulate violence in viewers but was rather a catharsis. Some people say they are appalled by the violence of "Jaws." TV Scout thought it was a super picture that really frightened, yet the violence was not man against man, which horrifies, but man against nature.

Do-it-yourself

By
Duane Furnell

A nail holds because the wood fibers tend to return to their original positions and thus wedge against the nail. When the fibers are broken or otherwise distorted by excessively heavy hammer blows, the holding power of the nail is not as great. Thus it's best not to try to smash a nail home but to hit it firmly and without arm strain.

Nails near the edge of a board or along its edge require special consideration especially as regards the wood being nailed. Hard, strong-grained woods will split easily whereas soft, grainless wood will not. If you discover from experience, or feel that the wood you're working with splits easily, do one of two things. First try blunting the point of the nail by setting the head down on a hard surface and tapping the point with a hammer. Destroying the original, sharp nail point will reduce the splitting tendency. If this doesn't work, drill small holes before you hammer the nails. Don't use a lot of nails on the same line; this will almost surely split the wood. Do use fewer nails, but stagger them, to spread out strain over grain lines.

Pat Nixon suffers stroke, in hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former first lady Pat Nixon was reported in serious condition Thursday after suffering a stroke which has left her with "slight slurring" of speech and weakness in her face, arm and leg.

"I think she will walk, she may not walk normally," said Dr. John Mosier, a neurologist called to Mrs. Nixon's bedside at Memorial Hospital Medical Center of Long Beach.

"If the stroke doesn't get any worse, she's not going to die. If it gets worse, well, people do die from strokes," said Mosier at a news briefing about two hours after the 64-year-old wife of former President Richard M. Nixon was admitted.

"She had a stroke of maybe 35 to 50 per cent completeness. We don't know if it will expand," the doctor said. "At this point we don't know how permanent this may be."

A hospital news release said, "Mrs. Nixon suffered a dysarthria, a slight speech impediment or slurring of speech, and moderate weakness of the left arm, leg and face."

Pressures in her life "certainly could have been a contributing factor" toward her illness, Mosier said.

Both President Ford and his rival for the Republican presidential nomination, Ronald Reagan, called Nixon about 6 p.m. EDT.

A White House source quoted Nixon as telling Ford "it could be serious." Reagan quoted Nixon as saying his wife's condition had stabilized and added: "They are very hopeful."

An ambulance called by Secret Service agents transported Mrs. Nixon to the hospital from her seaside San Clemente home, once the Western White House.

She was accompanied on the 30-mile trip by her husband and youngest daughter, Julie Eisenhower, who remained at her bedside.

The Nixons' eldest daughter, Tricia Cox, was called in New York by the former president and was reported flying out to join the family.

The stroke "occurred at approximately 4 p.m. Wednesday while she was sitting on the patio reading," said Mosier. "She felt that she probably had a little stroke. She went up and went to bed. She didn't tell the other members of her family."

Other family members "could tell when they saw her" Thursday that she was ill, Mosier said.

Social Security proposals aired

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee recommended on Thursday that Social Security payments be adjusted for cost-of-living changes twice a year, instead of once a year, to help older Americans keep pace with inflation.

Inflation was described as "still public enemy No. 1" for persons aged 65 and over in the annual report of the Special Committee on Aging.

Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, called the life of many elderly persons a "desperate struggle" and said more and more items which were "musts" in their monthly budgets are now "maybes" or "not-at-alls."

Church has introduced legislation to adjust payments for cost-of-living increases more often.

The Republican minority of the committee conceded that the nation's 23 million persons over 65 have "many unmet needs in income, housing, job opportunities, health care, nutrition, recreation, education and transportation" but said "important progress" has been made during the past year in fighting the rising cost of living.

The minority cited a 12.2 per cent increase in the Consumer Price Index between December 1973 and December 1974 compared with a 6.1 per cent increase from March 1975 to March 1976.

"The rate of inflation had thus been cut in half," the Republicans said, adding that inflation was produced in large part through excessive federal spending. They said it can be controlled only by "a new congressional commitment to sound and reasonable priorities for federal spending programs."

In addition to twice-a-year adjustments in Social Security and supplemental security income payments, the committee majority recommended a change in formula to reflect actual spending patterns of older persons.

The elderly spend proportionately more than younger persons on food, shelter and medical care.

The report says average health care costs for persons over 65 are three times the level for individuals 19 through 64, with Medicare covering only about 38 per cent of expenses.

It recommended the "timely" closing of Medicare coverage gaps for eyeglasses, hearing aids, dentures, out-of-hospital prescription drugs, physical checkups, and homemaker services, and that the number of reimbursable home health visits be increased from 100 to 200. The report did not estimate costs of the proposed changes.

The report asks for actions to provide greater employment opportunities for older workers, noting "harsh consequences" of the 1976 recession.

Unemployment for persons 45 or older averaged 1,567,000 during 1975.

Carter meets Mondale

Ford, Reagan do battle in North Dakota

By The Associated Press

President Ford picked up 10 of North Dakota's 18 Republican National Convention delegates Thursday, while challenger Ronald Reagan secured three. The remaining five delegates chosen at the party's state convention were uncommitted.

The North Dakota selection narrowed the list of available delegates to 25 to be chosen in Colorado at state convention sessions Friday and Saturday and 55 to be chosen later in Utah and Connecticut.

The latest Associated Press tally of delegates, including the North Dakota selection, shows Ford with 1,028 committed delegates to Reagan's 979. There are 171 uncommitted delegates. A total of 1,130 delegate votes are required for a first-ballot nomination.

Reagan campaigned personally at the North Dakota convention in hopes of gaining a bigger share of the delegates. The former California governor spoke to the Fargo convention Thursday before the voting and then flew to Chicago to meet privately with uncommitted Illinois delegates.

In an expansion of his previous theme of sending federal money back to the states, Reagan suggested the use of a percentage of the federal income tax as a source of funds to go back to state governments for whatever use they choose.

While Reagan was pursuing delegates in person, President Ford's son Jack was in Colorado representing his father. Reagan plans to go to Colorado this weekend.

On the Democratic side, Jimmy Carter, the former Georgia governor who has mathematically clinched the Democratic presidential nomination, continued his interviews with prospective vice presidential running mates.

Carter met with Sens. Walter Mondale of Minnesota and John Glenn of Ohio.

Carter says he won't announce his selection until the Democratic convention in New York next week. He's previously met with Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine.

After the meeting at Carter's Plains, Ga., home, Mondale said he would be willing to give up his Senate career to run with Carter. And Carter said he found no philosophical incompatibility with Mondale.

Mondale sought the Democratic presidential nomination until late 1974 when he dropped out saying he did not want to participate in a long, hard campaign.

Calls for congressional reform

Thomas Curtis endorses King

By RON JENNINGS
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

In town Thursday to endorse Independence Mayor Richard King for the Republican Fourth District congressional nomination, former U.S. Rep. Thomas Curtis, Clayton, Mo., told a small group of GOP candidates and supporters that congressional, rather than executive, reform should be the primary theme of this fall's election campaigns.

King, one of two Republicans seeking the congressional nomination, is qualified to serve as a reformer in the House of Representatives, Curtis said, "because in contrast to his Democratic and Republican opponents, (he) has been on the receiving end of laws, rules and regulations from Washington during his tenure as mayor of Independence."

Curtis recently resigned as head of the Federal Election Commission and, as a Ronald Reagan supporter, will lead the Missouri delegation to the Republican National Convention in Kansas City next month.

"This year," Curtis said, "the Republicans are the reform party, both in the state and in this nation as a whole."

Fluoridation issue up to Water Board

The decision to fluoridate Sedalia's water supply rests solely with the Water Board, not the City Council, it was learned Wednesday night.

A letter from Robert S. Miller of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources presented at the Water Board meeting Wednesday stipulated that a City Council ordinance is not necessary to implement a fluoridation program here.

Water Board members said, however, they would wait for the results of a special public opinion ballot before taking action on the issue.

In an April, 1972, opinion ballot on the fluoridation proposal, the measure was defeated by 145 votes, 2,527 to 2,382.

The July 2 letter says fluoridation equipment, offered free of charge to the city by the Missouri Division of Health, "is for installation at the request of the local water purveyor."

Water department manager Herb Taylor said he misunderstood an earlier letter from Miller which said an ordinance must be passed before the equipment could be obtained and installed.

"I thought that 'ordinance' meant City Council ordinance," he said. "All it means is that the Water Board must approve it."

Taylor said that now the Water Board alone can accept the offer, but stated it would take no action before reviewing the results of a special advisory ballot Aug. 3, drafted to gauge public opinion.

The July 2 letter further states, "It (fluoridation equipment) is available where responsible public officials have authorized its installation and will agree to operate and maintain the equipment."

It is up to us to help dismantle federal bureaucracy, and believe me it needs just that."

Known throughout his 18 years in Congress as a fiscal conservative, Curtis Thursday added "There's no excuse for this nation of ours to be running a bankrupt operation in Washington, D.C."

Regarding recent sex scandal disclosures among various congressmen, Curtis noted that in his unsuccessful 1974 campaign against Sen. Thomas Eagleton, "I didn't avoid Watergate, but, instead, I warned it was only the tip of the iceberg. I was heart-sick and ashamed, but I told the people it had been building up for a long time. Now, the real iceberg is beginning to show up."

Despite these incidents, Curtis said, "90 per cent of the congressmen are decent and honorable men." But, he added, "my major criticism is that they are not speaking out against these incidents enough. I mean really speaking out and taking some good old-fashioned, hard-nosed action to prevent them from happening again."

King also addressed the audience and outlined five promises he has made to

Israeli widow's fate a mystery

By The Associated Press

Fears grew Thursday for the safety of a 75-year-old British-Israeli widow reported left behind in a Ugandan hospital when Israeli commandos freed other hostages.

The British ambassador to Uganda, James Hennessy, asked urgently to see Ugandan President Idi Amin about the woman's fate, the British Foreign Office in London said.

Dora Bloch, a Tel Aviv resident with dual citizenship, was reported left behind last Sunday when Israeli commandos raided Entebbe Airport and rescued more than 100 hostages from pro-Palestinian hijackers. Three hostages, one Israeli officer and all the terrorists were killed, along with an estimated 20 Ugandan soldiers.

Mrs. Bloch's son, Ilan Hartuv, appealed to Amin to send his mother home. Hartuv was a passenger with his mother when the plane was hijacked and he was rescued and returned to Tel Aviv by the Israeli commandos.

Mrs. Bloch, who was traveling on a British passport, had been taken to a Kampala hospital two days before the raid when a piece of food stuck in her throat.

A British diplomat visited her in the hospital 12 hours after the Israeli raid, but was denied admission when he returned an hour later with food for her, a Foreign Office spokesman said.

The Foreign Office said it could not confirm a report that Mrs. Bloch was dragged screaming from her hospital bed by four men Sunday night. Another son, Daniel Bloch, an Israeli journalist in New York, said there were such reports.

Bloch appealed on an American television show to heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali to intercede with Amin on his mother's behalf. Bloch said he understood Ali was "a good friend" of Amin. Ali was not immediately available for comment.

Mrs. Bloch was going to Bloch's wedding scheduled Sunday in New York when the plane was hijacked. Ugandan officials claim she was discharged from the hospital and had rejoined the other hostages at the airport before the commando rescue mission.

An official Uganda radio broadcast said Uganda ceased to be responsible for the hostages from the moment the Israelis launched their raid.

A spokesman at the Israeli Embassy in London said his government was in touch with other governments, the International Red Cross and other organizations in an effort to learn Mrs. Bloch's whereabouts.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim called the hijacking affair a tragic incident that shows the need to combat international terrorism.

HEW's latest order goes a bit too far

"The law," says one of Charles Dickens' characters, "is an ass." As far as the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is concerned, that may well be a serious understatement.

HEW has informed the Scottsdale, Ariz., school system that father-son, mother-daughter type affairs held in the schools are in violation of federal sex discrimination rules. This would invalidate such events as

Bike law repealed

The City Council has repealed its controversial bicycle ordinance in the face of negative public opinion.

As we said here earlier, we're certain the ordinance was drawn up with the best of intentions. But the new provision calling for mandatory registration just didn't go over well with many bike owners, who resented being forced to do something that was mainly for their own personal benefit.

The registration feature has now been put on an optional basis, which makes more sense. We hope it will be a help in recovering stolen bicycles.

breakfasts, fashion shows, athletic banquets, etc., that are limited to one sex.

The sex discrimination provision is part of Title 9 of the 1972 Education Act, which recently became effective and has played havoc in numerous school systems across the country. But surely this must be one of its most ridiculous interpretations.

(To his credit, President Ford suspended the HEW order Wednesday. He said he would ask Congress, if necessary, to change the law to permit such activities.)

Father-son and mother-daughter affairs are a fixture in many schools (not in Sedalia, however), and reaction from some of these to HEW's decree has been less than enthusiastic.

"I wonder where the end is," was the comment of Dr. Ira King, compliance officer for the Scottsdale system. (The fact that we must have such things as "compliance officers" should tell us something about the state of federal control of education today.)

The overweening power of the federal government is supposed to be one of the issues in this year's campaign. We could ask for no finer example than this of Big Brotherism in action.

"Good show."

WASHINGTON — A Los Angeles scrap-metal magnate has brought pressure on U.S. authorities to admit Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang, the former notorious South Vietnamese intelligence chief, into the United States.

The metals magnate, Sam Jaffe, has offered Quang a job with his corporation, Stelex International. According to confidential government memos, Jaffe explained that he wanted the controversial Quang because of his political connections.

"You must be politically oriented to do business in Southeast Asia," one memo quotes Jaffe as saying. "There is no way to do business in any of these countries without paying off."

Merry-go-round

Ex Viet general's expertise wanted

Quang's skills in the art of corruption are well-documented. He was associated in Saigon with heroin smuggling, extortion and torture. He sold exit visas, for example, to panicky South Vietnamese refugees trying to flee ahead of the Communists. One refugee has told of a $10,000 payment that Quang extorted.

These charges have been largely substantiated by the Canadian government, which now has Quang on its hands. He has been ordered deported as an "undesirable person," with permission to remain in Canada only until he can find another country that will take him.

As chief of South Vietnam's Central Intelligence Agency and a close confidante of President Nguyen Van Thieu, Quang was formerly a power in Saigon. He abused his power with a viciousness that has made him a target of a South Vietnamese vengeance squad called the Black April Committee. According to government memos, he stands "accused torturing and killing Vietnamese nationals."

Jaffe succeeded in endearing himself to Quang during the intelligence chief's glory days. The relationship helped Jaffe wangle a contract to buy scrap metal from the former Saigon government. "After all," he explained recently to U.S. officials, "the country had been at war 30 years, and there was a lot of scrap around."

Getting a sales pitch

WASHINGTON—It was reported in the New York Times last week that the Pentagon has set as one of its highest priorities the sale of U.S. military equipment to foreign countries. Chief sales manager is Deputy Defense Secretary William P. Clements, and the Times reported he held a pep talk sales breakfast meeting to tell his people the Pentagon sales program was one of the most important missions of the Defense Department.

Buchwald

I wasn't invited to the breakfast, but I like to think this is how it went.

"Gentlemen, we've moved $10 billion worth of arms this year, but I am disappointed in many of you. We were hoping to have a $12 billion year. Now, we're here to speak frankly. Why isn't the stuff moving?"

"I can only speak for Africa, sir, and my people have done a fine job there. We sold a squadron of F-5 fighters to Kenya, and tons of stuff to Zaire. Ethiopia is talking about buying a missile cruiser."

"What's holding up the sale?"

"Since she's landlocked, she doesn't know where to put it."

"I don't want excuses. I want sales. Your people should have figured out some way of persuading Ethiopia that it was essential for a Third World power to have a missile cruiser whether she was landlocked or not. They have lakes in Ethiopia, don't they?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then let them keep the cruiser in one of their lakes. All right now, what about the Seychelles Islands. Why haven't they bought anything from us?"

"They only got their independence last week. We're waiting for the prime minister to appoint a minister of defense."

"What are you pushing?"

"We thought we'd talk them into some aircraft carriers, submarine chasers and possibly antiaircraft guns."

"That's all? A country has just gained its independence, and all you're going to sell them is a couple of lousy carriers and a few sub chasers. What kind of a salesman are you?"

"Well, sir, it's a question of money. They want to put what little money they have into industry and agriculture."

"Your job is to persuade them that defense comes first. What good is it to have industry and agriculture if they can't protect themselves from an attack by Kenya?"

"Kenya?"

"Listen, you tell them we just sold Kenya a squadron of F-5 fighters, and if the Seychelles Islands don't buy a squadron of our F-15s they'll never be able to repulse an attack."

"I got you."

"All right now, what about South America?"

"I left two samples of Trident missiles with Ecuador just to whet their appetites. I told them to try them, and if they didn't live up to their expectations, they wouldn't have to pay for them."

"What about Brazil?"

"We told Brazil that Ecuador is ordering the Trident missiles and advised them to order the anti-Trident missiles that could shoot them down."

"That's just a drop in the bucket. Why isn't Brazil ordering cruise missiles? I'll tell you why. Because you all think like Avon Women. You make one sale and believe that's all you have to do. Well, let me tell you, gentlemen, the Pentagon is not going to stay in business unless we sell, SELL—SELL! I want those warehouses emptied by Christmas, and if you people can't do it I'll find generals and colonels who can. All right now, take your order books and get out of here. The first man who sells a complete nuclear weapons system to a Third World power gets an all-expense-paid trip to Bermuda."

"Woweeeee!!!"

High obstacles confront third parties

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — The way of transgressors is hard sayeth the Good Book, and the author of Proverbs might have been addressing his wisdom to third-party candidates who transgress the two-party system. Running for president as a Democrat or Republican is no easy job, but running as an independent is like running inside a potato sack.

Kilpatrick

Paul H. Blackman spells out the difficulties in a little book just published by the Heritage Foundation, "Third Party President? His comprehensive study of confusing state requirements has a particular interest this year. If things go really badly for the Republicans, Blackman's manual may become a little bible for new-party promoters between now and 1980.

By every indication, our two-party system is in trouble. The principal reasons have been examined many times. The growth of a professional civil service has nullified the devices of party patronage. Television has eclipsed the organizing of a rally in the park. Public financing of presidential elections has weakened the party's fund-raising function.

Whatever the reasons may be, a general disenchantment has developed. The pollsters' findings vary, but roughly 42 per cent of the voters consider themselves Democrats and only 18 to 20 per cent identify with the Republicans. The rest are independents, and among voters 18 to 25, more than half are independents. On paper, at least, it appears that a time is approaching for some basic realignment.

In terms of the presidency (and that is Blackman's only concern in his monograph), this means we must look to state laws and regulations governing new-party access to the ballot. The Constitution provides, with apparent clarity, that the naming of a president is not a national function, but a state function: "Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors..." The power of Congress to make or to alter state regulations is plainly limited to the times, places and manner of holding elections "for Senators and Representatives" only.

Until this fundamental structure is altered by constitutional amendment, the power of the states will continue. The effective emergency of new parties therefore will depend upon the willingness of the 50 state legislatures to attack the problem of ballot access.

I count myself a Tenth Amendment conservative. I love diversity. I hate were well organized, plus the prizes given were really nice ones.

All the entertainment was good, and those who participated should be thanked publicly for donating their time to make others' July 4th an enjoyable and safe one.

We, too, enjoyed the fireworks and think a community fireworks display much more safe and economically more sensible as a standard celebration of the holiday.

As far as we could tell, there was no uniformity. But looking at Blackman's compendium of state election laws, I am minded to say: This is ridiculous. In the past hundred years, third-party candidates have won electoral votes in only five elections. The wonder is that third parties have done so well.

A candidate such as Eugene McCarthy, for example, must master 50 different requirements for the filing of petitions. In some states, the number of signatures is low; in some it is high. Here the signatures must be notarized; there they must be obtained by counties or congressional districts. Filing deadlines vary enormously. Filing fees are high and low. State laws on challenges are a swamp of ambiguity. Plainly, each of the states has gone its own untrammelled way. This is constitutional; it is also chaotic.

It is conceivable that Congress might seek to impose uniformity through some device that would circumvent the Con-trouble at the park, and everyone there seemed to be enjoying the day. Wouldn't it be nice if July 4th could be celebrated just this way in Sedalia every year?

Hooray for Sedalia! We're finally getting together for fun instead of dispute.

stitution. For example, the granting of "federal aid" might be conditioned upon each state's enactment of a model law. But Blackman is no friend to such extortion, nor am I. Besides, the Democrats and Republicans in Congress are no more likely to make life easier for new-party competitors than their counterparts in state capitals.

But it would be a mistake cynically to assume bad faith in legislative halls. Without damage to the principle of diversity, the states voluntarily could move toward greater uniformity on petitions, fees, filing deadlines, and the like. The process should not be made too easy; otherwise we would have ballots cluttered with the names of merely frivolous candidates. But the process ought to be simplified. This is a pregnant time for the birth of new parties. In the name of a free society, we ought not to see them strangled in the womb.

Opening lead — Q ♦

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The unlucky expert had us cornered again. A session of duplicate had just ended and our friend had finished second.

Some players are satisfied with a second place finish. He wasn't and had one particular hand to show his bad luck.

It seems that the field had been in four spades. Every West had opened the queen of diamonds and every East but one returned the queen of clubs. After that start it was a simple matter for declarer to take successful finesses in spades and hearts and wind up making six.

Against the unlucky expert, East had led back the seven of hearts.

If ever a lead looked like a singleton, that one was it. Our unfortunate friend decided that he could not afford the luxury of a trump finesse and the almost certain ruff of a heart if the finesse lost. So he wound up making one trick less than anyone else.

Ask the Jacobys

A Wyoming reader wants to know if a player who responds two clubs to his partner's one-heart opening promises another bid.

The answer is that he does not do so in standard American or in the very similar Jacoby modern. But some expert pairs play that the two-over-one response does promise another bid and a very few even play it as a game force.

SIDE GLANCES

by Gill Fox

"If I'm in this world to help others, what are the others here for?"

Ann Landers

Fiance turns mother on

Dear Ann Landers: I'm in love with my daughter's fiance. Madly, passionately, and completely.

I have a good husband, three fine children, and a lovely home. I married young and didn't know what love was. No one has ever turned me on like this until now. It's not just physical (although it's that, too).

I want my daughter to marry this man. He is kind and good, all that anyone could want. I look at him and my heart aches. I ask God, "Why not till now?"

Don't tell me to keep busy. Ann, I do — with a job, college courses, and club work. I know I must leave him alone. Please, tell me I'm not unique. I need to hear it from you. — Born Too Soon

Dear Born: No, you are not unique, but knowing there are others doesn't solve the problem.

I see so many negative elements in your dilemma — guilt, ambivalence, rivalry, fear and shame. I urge you to get some counseling and resolve these conflicts so you can have peace of mind and freedom from anxiety.

Dear Ann Landers: With summer vacations here, relatives and friends are again traveling great distances to see each other. I'd like to bring something to the attention of each and every person, old and young, male and female:

Check yourself out. Are you monopolizing the conversation and depriving others of a chance to talk?

After driving a thousand miles to get together, one person in our family has been talking non-stop the entire weekend. When others in the room begin to squirm or carry on whispered conversations on the side, Ego Mouth doesn't even notice. At the end of the visit many of us will go home with all those things we've been saving up to talk about still unsaid.

Why doesn't the rockhead notice signs — like an abrupt question on a completely different subject? It means people would like him to knock it off for a while. Would a normal person talk at someone who is trying to study, read, write or watch TV? Is he insecure, immature, or just plain rude in demanding so much attention?

Thanks, Ann. Perhaps through your column I will FINALLY get a chance to speak. — Numb Ears

Dear Ears: You have spoken. But don't expect the Ego Mouths of the world to get the message. They never think you mean them.

Dear Abby once said, "A person who monopolizes the conversation at a get-together is just as big a hog as the person who comes to a party and eats all the food." How true!

Dear Ann Landers: Actually, I don't know where to begin. Six months ago I never dreamed of smoking pot or sleeping with a guy before marriage. I was so "straight" you wouldn't believe it. But after going with Jerry for a while, I began to change.

At first I said, "No. Not Me. Never." But he was very persistent. Now six months later, it turns out I might be pregnant. I don't know for sure. All I do know is that I was so stupid I could kick myself.

I'd like to warn all other teenagers to beware of kids your parents don't want you to associate with. Their judgment is a lot better than yours. I'm signing my letter — A Sorry Rebel.

Dear Rebel: No comment from me. You've said it all.

Bond opposed to referendum

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond said Thursday he sees no need for a non-binding referendum on the controversial Meramac Dam project as has been suggested by some St. Louis politicians.

Bond said the state and its congressional delegation have favored the project for a decade and there was no need to poll the public on the federally funded proposal.

"At this point, I don't see the need for it," Bond said of the proposed referendum.

Two waive

Both men are free on $2,500 bond.

Park Board's profits going up

Attendance is down, but profits are up for Sedalia's park pools, according to Park and Recreation Director Roscoe Righter.

Righter attributed the decline in attendance to the weather, noting "we had a cooler June this year than we did last year." Despite this drop, revenue has increased because of the increase in admission fees and the fact that more pool patrons are paying single-admission prices rather than using the more economical coupon books.

The new pool rates this year are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children, with last year's rates set at 60 cents for adults and 40 cents for children. Under the coupon book format, whereby persons purchase a book of coupons to be used to gain admittance, this year's rates are 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for children. Persons submit one coupon each time they enter the pool and the coupon price is counted in each day's receipts.

"Last year, Righter said 41 per cent of the pool patrons in June used coupon tickets. This year, he added, only 21 per cent used coupons.

According to figures presented to the Park and Recreation Board, the pools have grossed $1,294 over last year's income as of the same date. Righter said 13,149 persons used the park department's three pools in June, accounting for a gross income of $7,566.30.

In other action, Righter said he and City Clerk Ralph Dedrick differed on final budget figures for the department. He said his final tabulations showed the department was $96.28 to the good, while Dedrick's showed the department several thousand dollars in the red.

Righter blames the discrepancy on a clerical error, saying Dedrick might have used estimated figures in place of actual figures to determine the department's final balance.

Righter told The Democrat-Capital that his figures were in agreement with Dedrick's through May, when they were last checked. Righter said he learned of the difference in figures during city council budget hearings. He expressed confidence in his figures.

Dedrick explained Thursday he had been informed last week by Righter that the figures did not agree. Righter has not, since been back to his office to discuss the matter, he added.

"The last thing I knew, he was going to check it out," Dedrick said. "He hasn't come back to check out any of the differences."

Righter said he hasn't returned to confer with Dedrick yet "because I know Ralph is very busy working on the new city budget and I'm not worried about this situation to the extent that I feel it is necessary to interrupt his important work at this time."

Righter did not know what effect if any, the difference in figures might have on the department's allocations from the council for the next fiscal year.

The board voted several appropriations, authorizing Righter to approve the lowest and best bid to purchase a scoreboard and lowest and best bid to repair the roof of the baseball stadium in Liberty Park. The scoreboard bids range from $14,000 to $17,000, according to Righter and roof repair bids range from $750 to $1100. The scoreboard will be placed in Liberty Stadium.

The board authorized the Smith-Cotton Tigers soccer team to play five home games on the Centennial Park soccer field. Khoury League and State Fair Community College also play soccer on this field.

A letter from students of Kalamazoo Valley Community College, Mich., was read to the board announcing the school's donation of $20 to the park department for the planting of a tree.

Students from the school, as part of a bicentennial trip to the west coast, bicycled through Missouri. They wrote that as part of their trip, they were donating a tree to one city in every state they traveled through. They choose Sedalia after spending a night sleeping in Convention Hall.

Council

The Water Board passed a motion June 2 requesting the City Council pass an ordinance to fluoridate the water supply. The council took no action on the proposal June 7, but voted June 21 to put the issue on the special ballot.

At the June 2 Water Board meeting, Taylor said the fluoridation equipment would be offered to another town if the City Council did not vote to accept it within a week. The offer was still intact Wednesday, however, and three fluoridation units and a testing kit, valued between $3,000 and $3,500, are still available free of charge.

In other business, the board approved the purchase of a $539 car wash pump and a $485 outboard motor for use in depositing chemicals at Spring Fork Lake.

The board also announced it will accept bids to build a new roof on the pump station building at the south water treatment plant.

Curtis

Fourth District voters. He said he has pledged to:

—return any refunds from congressional allowances allotted him.

—refrain from engaging in outside business while in Congress.

—work toward abolishing the automatic cost-of-living income increase provision approved by Congress which, he said, "makes them (Congressmen) immune to the effects of inflation."

—not travel abroad at the taxpayer's expense.

—establish a mobile office to visit cities in his district at least once a month.

King also focused briefly on the need for congressional change, stating, "We seem to sometimes overlook the fact that Congress is the source of most of the problems in our country, either directly or indirectly."

Appearing briefly at the meeting was Al Kemp, Jefferson City, a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer. Kemp formerly served as executive director of the Missouri Election Commission.

Ken Romines, the only Republican candidate for Pettis county prosecuting attorney, introduced Curtis, King and Kemp.

Judge Hazel Palmer also gave Hatfield a suspended 30-day jail sentence and placed him on probation for six months.

Hatfield was arrested by Sedalia police June 24 near the Sedalia Country Club on South Limit, when he allegedly had the marijuana.
